Nice one, David. Good to get that confirmation.

Have you gotten more info on the timeline situation? That is, the fact that the warrant is being issued before the end of the appeal process? I'm also hoping either Jo or someone from QSTARS can give you some direct assistance with the appeal itself.

I've also read the email from the Department re having a meeting to discuss alternate accommodation. Are you going to take them up on that offer? I can understand if you'd rather not, and would prefer not to give them the impression that you might concede, but I would also understand wanting to make sure there's some sort of backup plan in place if possible.

It's also good to have that likely date for the warrant execution. Means we can plan a lot better for a protest. I'll chat to Jonno about this asap. It also gives us more time to try and persuade the police to let the warrant expire. To clarify your question in another thread, the Patrol Group Inspector is from QPS, but he's new to the position (although has been in QPS for a long time), and is now overseeing the whole inner west region. He seems particularly interested in making sure folks aren't left homeless, so while I don't typically put any faith in cops, if any of them are going to be helpful in this situation, it's probably him.

Steph

Reply from QSTARS lawyer confirming my position that if the Warrant is not executed during its period of validity, it can only be reissued by making a fresh application to QCAT.

Hi David,

My understanding is that if the WOP is not executed, a new WOP would need to be argued for in QCAT. Hope this assists.

Thanks
