Hi Steph,

There is only one Warrant, and it expires at 6pm next Tuesday. The Warrant cannot be extended or renewed. If it expires before it can be executed, another Warrant will have to be issued and this would only happen if QCAT rejects my appeal or if another QCAT application is made by the Department (ie the process starts from scratch).

I do not expect to get much warning (if any) should the worst case scenario unfold. The Department of Housing does not need to be present for the Warrant to be executed. But as I say if we can get to 6pm Tuesday, it's a whole lot harder for the eviction to proceed.

The irony of the matter is that, at 4pm this Friday I'll be playing with the Garage Band for our first concert this year at the Indooroopilly Activity Hub's Open Mic. I'll be singing the last of these, which is the Men at Work song "Who can it be now?", opening lines: "Who can it be knocking at my door? Go away, don't come round here no more." While I'm belting out those lines on stage, police officers could very well be knocking on my door up the road.

By the way, if you or anyone else in the office would like to watch the concert, it's on from 4-4:30 this Friday at the Hub. Michael has been an avid supporter of the Hub so he knows it well.

Regards,

David

If we can find out when exactly they're expecting to execute the warrant, we would have a better chance of getting some folks over (I think Jonno was keen to assist if possible) to protest the eviction.
