Everything would have been gone last weekend if the Government hadn't intervened and scuttled all my plans. I'm not concerned about a Notice to Leave. I've fought off about half a dozen of them before and I'll fight this one off too. The inspection is on Wednesday (not Monday) so I've still got time to deal with it. You are welcome to visit anytime after the inspection.

Hi David I'm just concerned that housing are going to give you a notice to leave if you don't clean up everything that's in the front yard by Monday , like everything has to be gone to try save your accommodation as it has gotten worse . if you can make that happen I could advocate for them to hold off until then my hands are tied.
